LOCALETS

Miss Cora Durand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Durand of Badger Lake district, was married on Sunday morning at Retlaw to Owen Dalton, a young man of wheat Centre district. Mr. Dalton has a homestead in the Red Deer and the newly married pair will start their home life there early in the spring. On Monday evening the bride's parents entertained the neighbors and friends to a dance in the First Chance

School. A large crowd attended and had a very enjoyable time. The hosts served an abundance of tempting viands and all joined in wishing the happy couple God Speed in their new adventure.

o o o

Post Office Inspector Stewart has been in town for a couple of days and says we can get a better mail service if we holler loud enough at Ottawa.

o o o

Commencing with March 4th. the Lomond train will come in on Tuesdays instead of Wednesdays. This change is made in order that stock shipments may reach Calgary market in time to participate in the current week's buying and selling. It is to be hoped that this will be but a step to the re-instatement of the twice-a-week service.

o o o

Dr. and Mrs. Walkey opened their home last Friday evening to the entertainment of about twenty of the town's younger set. Cards and billiards helped to pleasantly while away the evening.

War to Peace

To Solve Canada's Employment Problem

EVERYONE in Canada should understand just what the Government is doing to solve the unemployment problems that may arise through the demobilization of our fighting forces.

(1) Employment Offices.

So that everyone—male or female, soldier or civilian—can get quickly such jobs as are available the Government is co-operating with the Provinces in establishing a chain of Public Employment Offices. Employers are being urged to make use of these offices to secure any help they need. Farmers, for example, who need hired men should apply to the nearest office. There will be a Public Employment Office in every town of 10,000 people—and wherever the need for one exists. There will be 60 different offices in all—one-half are already in operation.

(2) Employment Opportunities.

The war held up much work that will now be carried on at once. Public works, shipbuilding, roadbuilding, railway work—construction of bridges, improvement of road-bed, making of new equipment—these will provide new opportunities for employment. In addition, the Government has sent a Trade Mission overseas to secure for Canada a share in the business of providing materials and products required for reconstruction work in Europe. It has also set aside the large sum of $25,000,000 to be loaned through the Provinces to encourage the building of workmen's houses. This will mean much new work in the spring.

(3) Land and Loans for Soldiers

To help soldiers become farmers the Government has developed a programme that includes the providing of land, the granting of loans, and the training and supervision of those inexperienced in farming. At present, the soldier is granted, free, in addition to his ordinary homestead right, one quarter-section of Dominion lands. He also receives a loan up to the maximum of $2,500.

These original plans are now being broadened. If Parliament passes the new proposals during this session, the Soldier Settlement Board will be able to buy suitable land and re-sell it to the soldier at cost.

Land up to the value of $5,000 may be bought by this plan—the money to be repaid in 20 years. The low interest rate of 5 per cent. will be charged. These new proposals will also permit the Soldier Settlement Board to loan the soldier-farmer up to $2,500 for purchasing equipment, etc., in addition to $5,000 loan on his farm.

THE 'FLU

Our Travers correspondent endeavors to console us by contributing the following:

When your back is broke
And your eyes are blurred
And your shinbones knock
And your tongue is furred
And your tonsils squeak
And your hair gets dry
And you're doggone sure
You are going to die
But you're skeered you won't
And afraid you will
Just drag to bed and
Have your chill
And pry the Lord to See you through
For you've got the Flu, boy,
You've got the Flu

When your toes curl up
And your belt goes flat
And you're twice as mean
As a Thomas cat
And life is a long and
Dismal curse, and and all
Your food tastes like
A hard boiled hearse
When your lattice aches
And your heads a buzz
And nothing like it ever was
Here are my sad regrets to you
You've got the Flu
You've got the Flu

What is it like this Spanish Flu?
Ask me brother for I've been through
It is by misery out of despair
It pulls your teeth and
Curls your hair
It thins your blood
And brays your bones
It fills your craw with moans
and groans
And sometimes maybe you get well
Some call it Flu
I call it Hell.

THE LATE MRS. ENDERSBY

Geo. Endersby rethred home from Washington last week, where he had accompanied the remains of his mother to burial. The following item from the Bellingham, Wash., Post, is an account of the funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Betsy Endersby, who passed away at the home of her son, George Endersby of Lomond, Alberta, on December 30th, will be held Tuesday January 7, at 2 o'clock from the Endersby home on the Smith road, where Mrs. Endersby resided for 12 years until joining her son in Canada. Rev. F. B. Culver, of the First Evangelical church of Bellingham, officiating. Mrs. Endersby at the time of her death was in her ninety-fourth year. She was the mother of seven children, two sons and two daughters surviving. George Endersby, Lomond, Alberta, J. P. Endersby Med care Hat, Alberta, Mrs. Sarah Terry, of Marion, Ind., and Mrs. Alice Johnson of Bellingham. Thirty grandchildren and fourteen great-grand children also survive. Interment will be made in Ten Mile Cemetery under the direction of Harry Bingham, 1319 Dock street Bellingham.

Mrs. Endersby had been a pioneer most of her life. She was born in Bedfordshire, England, and came to Canada in 1870, where she and her husband spent the next eight years engaged in farming near Toronto. In 1878 they moved to Manitoulin Island and cleared up a bush farm, and then again in 1886 prompted by the pioneer habit, the family moved to Oxbow, Sask., and settled on a prairie farm. The State of Washington called them to another migration, and in 1897 they moved there, where she remained till last summer.

NOTES

Do you want a fixed price on wheat or would you prefer to have the grain exchange gambling cut out?

Why not open up the Burns' lease for soldier settlement? It is some of the best wheat land in Alberta.

Inspector Stewart says his department has no jurisdiction over mail delivers made thru' the railway company. In that case THE PRESS has been barking up the wrong tree. But how many jolly well departments does it take to run this one-horse mail service we're now getting.

The Agricultural Society must cut the professional horse racing from the 1919 program to keep faith with the public. A one day of attractions should be another consideration.

We're afraid our readers will consider this issue sort of a financial gazette.

If we have got to howl for a mail service, let's all toot on the big base horn.

A country contributor writes THE PRESS asking "Now that that the town has a bucket brigade, where do they expect to get the water—from McKay's water wagon?"

We might state that the village means to provide reservoirs for this purpose, but in the meantime Mr. St. John has given the bank building cistern which now contains about sixty barrels of water.

A bank at Armada and Milo pressages railroad construction this summer—and besides, it demonstrates the confidence big business holds in Southern Alberta. It should instil into us a little touch of optimism.

Talking of fire protection, the chief and deputy examined all the chemical extinguishers the other day and found but one or two in satisfactory working condition. They were re-filled and set to rights.

This is one week that we would have been glad for some one of our readers who feels that he can run this paper much better than we ourselves to take over the responsibility.

Seems queer to see oats selling cheaper now than at threshing time last fall.

Getting the first $1,000.00 is said by Carnegie, Rockefeller and others fairly remote from the poorhouse, to be the most difficult financial operation on record. Many people find the saving of the first dollar a fairly difficult process. A way has been found to make it easy painless and practically imperceptible. A modest little thrifty stamp can be purchased for 25 cents, and with it a book in which to paste it is given free. As odd quarters pop up, they are converted into more of these stamps and the first thing one has a book of sixteen filled. Then this is changed for a Four Dollar war savings stamp, which is pasted in another book. This $4.00 stamp draws interest at four and one half per cent, compounded half-yearly. Buy another stamp and start all over. Soon a second $4.00 stamp is bought, in a marvellously short space of time a $40.00 book is full. Put this away, for on January 1st, 1924, it will be worth $50.00. Meanwhile it is negotiable as gold if one urgently needs money.

THE MONITOR REVIVED.

One of the Curious By-products of U-Boat Warfare.

A curious by-product of the under-sea warfare is the revival of the monitor. At the outbreak of the war, certain monitors were being built in England for the Brazilian Government for use in the Amazon. At that time a monitor was regarded as only a shade less obsolete than a brigate. But since the Admiralty requisitioned everything in the yards that could be called a man-of-war, these monitors took the sea, and because of their shallow draft were used in the shall waters on the coast of Belgium. There they proved themselves most useful. They were able to co-operate with the troops on more than one important occasion, they moved as a rule in waters too shallow for submarines to pursue, and even if exposed to attack, their draft was so slight that the ordinary submarine torpedo, set to run at a depth of eighteen feet, would pass far below their keels. Consequently these despised monitors banked away most effectively and stayed afloat at a time when it began to look as if every other type were doomed to go down.

The result has been that monitors of all shapes and sizes have been built and operated ever since. There has been considerable mystery about them, but it can be said that the largest monitors mount the heaviest naval ordnance in the fleet, and that as special protection against the torpedo, the hulls of these vessels are adorned with "cushions" or "blis-ters." The value of these protective devices has never been put to proof because no monitor has yet been hit by a torpedo. It is this enviable distinction that enables the venerable monitor to seek its hat in the presence of younger but more vulnerable man-of-war.

Prodded With Bayonets.

A further report of the revolting treatment of prisoners by the Huns is being compiled by the Prisoners of War Treatment by the Enemy Committee from the carefully sifted evidence of returned prisoners.

A wounded captain of the Royal Warwickshire says: "At some stations German doctors told us that these too badly wounded to travel farther were to get out. We had many, but not one was passed on such by the German doctor. One English doctor called the attention of a German doctor to a man in my carriage with a grazed artery of the thigh, which had to be kept in a position by an instrument all the time owing to the jolting, which caused the man great suffering. The German doctor was very rude at being asked about the case, and refused to allow the man to be taken out. This man died a few days later of hemorrhage. He would most certainly have recovered if he had been taken out and kept quiet, as the graze was not severe."

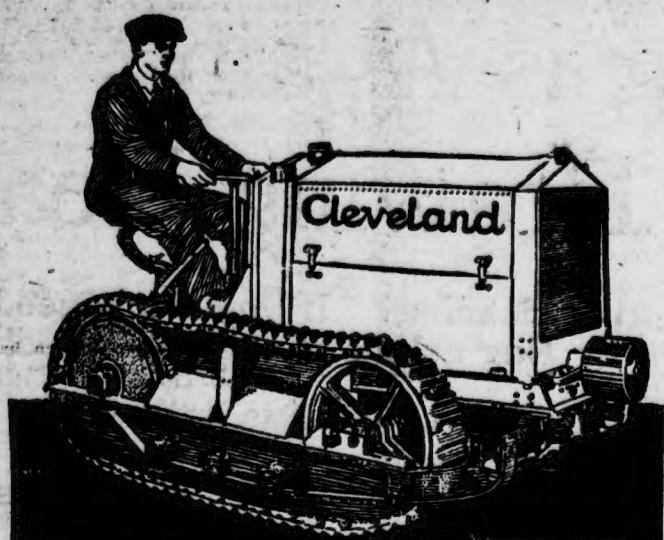

A captain of the Munster Fusiliers, who had travelled for five days and four nights on the bare boards of a cattle truck severely wounded and with a tube inserted in his thigh, tells of the arrival at Torgau. "We were made to march in fours to the camp a mile off," he states. "Although I was gasping for breath and so weak that I could hardly stand, I was prodded along by German soldiers with bayonets, followed by a hissing and jeering mob."

The Danish Stage.

While the lighter forms of dramatic art in Denmark are dominated by the Viennese ideals of modern music, while Wagner is sung every year at the Royal Opera, with the great tenor, Cornelius, in the heroic roles, a Danish singer who should attempt to sing in German on the stage of any theatre of Copenhagen would be hissed from the stage. The most popular operas of the last three years have been "Eugene Onegin" and "Faust," of which the Danes never tire. No year passes without the revival of the most important comedies of their great dramatic author, Holberg, whose traditions are very scrupulously maintained at the Royal Theatre. Their favorite buffo, Olaf Poulsen, was the ideal actor of certain of Holberg's heroes, and certainly one of the best of Falstaff. As to modern plays, very few are imported from Germany. Of late, since the French dramatists have ceased to produce, the Danish stage has turned to the United States and England. "Milestones," for instance, was an enormous success, and "Romance" held interested audiences for weeks. The attitude of the Dane towards literature, art, and science shows that in these vital things he is Danish to the core, and in no way under the spell of the dominating mentality of his southern neighbor.

The Torpedo-Boat.

The torpedo-boat was originally intended as the great offensive weapon against armored ships; a weapon which might be of supreme value in the hands of a weaker power, and enable her to weaken a stronger adversary sufficiently to allow of a general action between fleets on even or more even terms. But modern gunnery has already rendered the torpedo-boat obsolete for the purpose for which she was originally constructed. There are very few instances in the course of this war in which a battleship or a cruiser has been sunk by a torpedo fired by an above-water craft. There was the case of the unfortunate Goliath, which was torpedoed three times by a Turkish destroyer manned by a German crew on the night of May 21st, 1915, in the Dardanelles, and also some cases in the Battle of Jutland.—Wide World.

The Cleveland Tractor

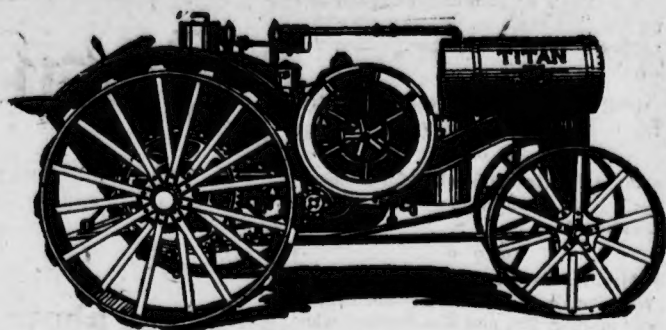

The marvel of the age in farm traction power. The only machine that really beats horses everywhere. Come in and let us demonstrate this tractor to you.

DELCO-LIGHT

The complete Electric Light and Power Plant

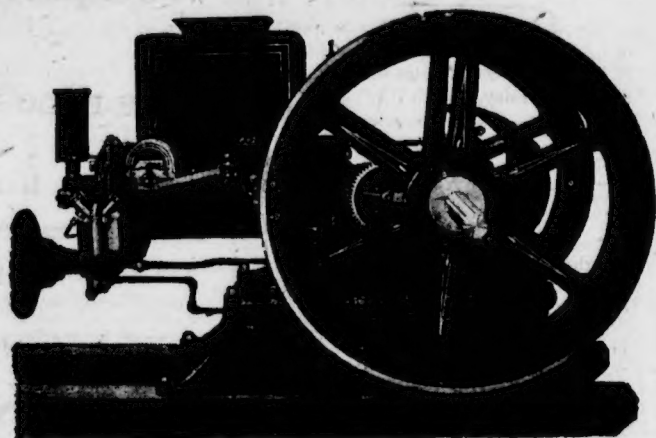

This is what will make mother laugh and bring city comforts right to her home. Give it to her before she works herself to death. Electric light, electric washer, electric sweeper, and it will also run the sewing machine. She deserves these things as much as father does up-to-date machinery.

The 10-20 "Titan"

The most reliable tractor of the day. Operates on all oil fuels from distillate (39 Baume) and kerosene up to gasolene. It is easy to operate. Any boy can safely run it with but a little instruction. Built to last. Economical and adapted to all farm work. Repair service given at this agency.

The famous STOVER 3-h.p. throttling governor engine that will grind your feed, pump your water, or do any other work needed from stationary power.

New Price List on Parts

The Ford Company, by post-war conditions, is making a new repair price list which will mean quite a saving to the owners of Ford cars.

We regret that owing to conditions of the times we found it necessary to close down the repair department. But very soon we anticipate opening up on even a better scale than before.

Meeting Postponed Till March 6th.

The annual general meeting of the Associated Farmers billed for to-day did not draw a quorum on account of the snow and cold. Consequently a postponement was made until Thursday of next week, March 6th.

LOMOND DISTRICT

This fall of snow seems to be food for those that doubt the possibilities of a crop this year although the snow has proven to be only of advantage to crops in this locality when a heavy fall of snow melts and rapidly soaks into the well-worked ground. When this freezes it is highly beneficial for starting the conserver during seeding operations.

The farmers will get a square deal in the coming agricultural fair if the good suggestions materialize. It is up to the farmers to take advantage of an improvement and start in the spring to prepare to get their share out of the proceeds, and at the same time join hands in making the coming fair a rousing success.

Checkers are playing a big part in the winter amusements and cards are taking a secondary place in some parts of the district.

The cemetery is at last possessor of an enclosure. We thank you for this progress in the municipal improvements.

The meeting at Travers last week was not wholly a success and to the outsider sounded like a childish quarrel. The main point was to delve the affairs of the council and find the grafter. Public opinion was in favor ofousting the councillors and electing new ones it will be interesting to watch the outcome of the situation.

"Meet me tonight in dreamland", is the favorite song with the bottle jugglers in these distressing times.

Announcement has been made by the Civil Service Commission that Robert J.C. Stead of Calgary, is appointed publicity agent for the department of immigration and colonization, which is presided over by the Hon. J.A. Calder. Mr. Stead has for some years had charge of publicity for the land colonization interests of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. Stead has intimate personal knowledge of the resources and needs of Western Canada, having lived on the prairies of Manitoba in the early eighties and been connected with some phase of western life ever since. He has been connected with the C. P. R. for six years, and aside from his publicity activities is widely known as a Western Canadian writer, his latest novel, "The Cow Puncher", having been among last season's best sellers.

Trustees' Report

In presenting the fourth annual report your trustees feel somewhat reticent in placing in your hands a financial statement which does not, as in the past, present a large business profit.

Many factors have been operating during the past year which have considerably handicapped your trustees in the business operations. Shortly after the last annual meeting we were confronted with a condition which required immediate attention. A sudden change had to be made in the management. To fill the vacancy one of your trustees took over the yard and carried on the business until such time as a new manager could be secured.

We have been very careful in securing a complete audit, including stock-taking, and also regarding prices on said stock, as well as capital assets, and have had one and sometimes two of our members present to verify all such items. Your present stock is valued at invoice price plus cost in the yard, except in cases where replacement price is lower than invoice price, when in such case the replacement price was used.

The business at present is confined to too few commodities to make a profitable turnover. We are arranging to handle United Grain Growers machinery on consignment, also a full line of insurance and real estate listings through the same company.

In the discussion of a new set of by-laws which have been drawn up by our solicitor, we ask you to do so freely and fully, so that the association can become established on a thorough and business basis.

Your trustees recommend that in case these by-laws are adopted that a secretary-treasurer be elected by the board of trustees, who may or may not be one of their number, and capable of keeping a complete set of books, who may also be retained as our book-keeper with sufficient salary to pay him for his time.

Further, we realize that all but one of your present board live at considerable distance from Lomond and think it advisable to endeavor to elect at least part of your trustees close to town.

This report, together with the above recommendations, is respectfully submitted for your consideration.

Signed on behalf of the trustees,

W. H. HUNTER.
S. GALLBRAITH.
